About HIWM

As the lead agency for healthcare innovation and transformation in the West Midlands, we focus on local and regional priorities while collaborating nationally through the Health Innovation Network.

Our local impact contributes to national progress, as part of the network of 15 Health Innovation Networks—tackling national challenges with local insight, and local issues with national expertise.

A connected 'network of networks'

We tackle national problems, with local understanding.

And local problems, with national expertise.

Each of the 15 health innovation networks is embedded in their local health and research ecosystem.

This drives economic prosperity and growth in all parts of the country and ensures that everyone benefits from innovation.
